Politics in the Northern Pulpit.

The parsons having returned from their summer vacation resumed their pulpits on Sunday for a new political campaign. They appear to be refreshed with the waters of fashionable resorts, salt and fresh; but the "waters of life" do not appear to have inspired them very much towards the fulfilment of their supposed mission-the spiritual regeneration of their flocks. With few exceptions the sermons preached on Sunday were political harrangues, some covert and insiduous, some open, bold, and almost blasphemous. Henry Ward Beecher, more cunning than the rest of the political preachers, did not refer directly to politics, but the whole tenor of his address had a marked political significance. He dealt rather with historical ideas and the great men of history than with local events, prospects or issues, but nevertheless there was no mistaking the direction in which his thoughts were turning while his philosophy was relieving itself in eloquent words. His sermon was a calm, dignified and statesman-like effort, altogether at variance with those of the other pulpit agitators. Beecher's discourse indicates the man of thought; those of the others the effusions of men of froth, cant and illimitable uncharitableness. Take, for example, the language of Dr. Bellows, who ought to have sense enough to appreciate the duties of his profession as he once before appeared to comprehend the value of another calling as an elevating element of education and morality. Dr. Bellows, while taking his text from the Bible, descanted, not upon the duty of man to his Creator, but upon the elections, dragged into the pulpit "the glorious news from Maine and Vermont," speculated upon the propects in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, and concluded by a prayer to the Almighty that He might guide the people to vote the radical ticket at the coming elections. Such language one might expect to hear in the gatherings at street corners or in bar-rooms; but your political parson thinks that they are subjects good enough for the house of God. -These rejoicings over elections past, and prophetic auguries of the result of elections to come were mixed up with the most undigni fied abuse of the President of the United States and his administration. Are there no souls at all to be saved in Dr. Bellows' "Church of All Souls?" Are the ways of the politicians of more importance to his congregation than "the way, the truth and the life," which he is supposed to lead them to? Rev. with a prayer that the President may be led through darkness into light," that is to say, from the darkness which envelops the upholders of the Constitution to the ethereal light of radicalism, with its symbols of blood and fire and a new civil war. The other political preachers were more delicate in their allusions. Dr. Tyng informed his audience that he had his tirade bottled up, but would open it on a future occasion. With such an example before them in the pulpits filled by white preachers, we cannot be surprised that the poor blacks of Zion Church were entertained by their colored pastor with somewhat similar, though much more moderate and Christian language; nor that when he announced that the Saviour had died for colored as well as white sinners, one of the congregation cried out "Bully for Him," and the whole crowd rose to their feet, shouting, stamping and screaming. This was, no doubt, most unseemly conduct in a church, but not a whit worse than the indecorum of the white parsons who introduce politics. profanity, a spirit of uncharitableness and a fire-brand of discord into their pulpit speeches. It is the general opinion that the business of ministers of reli gion is to save souls and promulgate the doctrine of charity to all men; but ministers of Dr. Bellows' and Dr. Cheever's and Dr. Tyng's stamp despise all such old fashioned notions. They evidently regard the pulpit as a political restrum, and instead of being the mouth-piece of the Gospel they have become the agents of the politicians and the Evil One. -New York

SHEEP FOR VIRGINIA FROM VERMONT.-Major J. E. Ficklen, of Culpeper, has just returned from a tour in several of the Northern States. It is his opinion, after close investigation, that Vermont has, probably, the best thorough-breds of any Northern State. Four thousand herd of Spanish Merino have been bought in Eastern Vermont this season, and are already en route for Culpeper. Full-blooded bucks range from $100 to $15,000-indeed, in several instances "money will not buy."-Mr. Sanford, of Vermont, has a buck, "Golden Drop." for which he has been offered $15,000, and declined. Mr. George Campbell, of Westminster, and Mr. E. Bridge, of Pomfret, Vermout, are wo of the best breeders in that State. Mr. Cambell carried a pen of some ten ewes to the World's Fair at Hamburg, (Germany) where he took the premium over about 2,000 other sheep. After taking the premium Mr. C. sold his pen of ewes to a German nobleman for 85,000 cash, in gold. Good stock or grade Merino sheep can be bought in Vermont for $3 to $10 per head.

Major Ficklen has secured five ewes from the flock of Mr. Campbell, which cost him $100 per head. He also obtained six from the flock of Mr. Bridge, averaging the same in price. These, with the best stock ram of Mr. "Old Grimes," and Mr. Bridge's rams, "Plug Ugly," and "Muffle," will give Major Picklen an even start with the average of the best flocks of Vermont.

The spirit evinced by Major F. is worthy of all commendation, by which we hope he will not only realize handsourely, but add materially to the profits of sheep-raising in Virginia.--Fredericksburg Herald.
